receiving, from the client device associated with the viewing user, user input to navigate to a next notable moment; and in response to the request to navigate to the next notable moment, providing the next notable moment to the client device associated with the viewing user.

16. The system of claim 14, further comprising instructions that, when executed by the at least one processor, cause the system to comprising identify the one or more media segments from the plurality of media segments based social data corresponding to the event.

17. The system of claim 14, further comprising instructions that, when executed by the at least one processor, cause the system to provide a media presentation associated with the event to the client device associated with the viewing user, the media presentation comprising a media stream and, wherein providing the one or more media segments comprises providing the one or more media segments within the media presentation.

18. The system of claim 16, wherein one or more media segments is provided to the client device associated with the viewing user within the media stream.

19. The system of claim 16, wherein one or more media segments is provided to the client device associated with the viewing user in connection with the media stream.

20. A non-transitory computer readable medium storing instructions thereon that, when executed by at least one processor, cause a computer system to:

receive a plurality of media streams from a plurality of capturing users, the plurality of media streams corresponding to an event; identify a plurality of notable moments from the event captured by at least one media stream of the plurality of media streams; generate a plurality of media segments corresponding to the identified plurality of notable moments; identify one or more media segments from the plurality of media segments based on one or more profile attributes of a viewing user; and provide, to a client device associated with the viewing user, the one or more media segments.

* * * * *